Dear Parents,

Please find attached a copy of the Ofsted inspector's report from our inspection that took place on Tuesday 19 and Wednesday 20 September 2023. It seems such a long time ago now as the inspection took place at the start of our new school year! Please take time to read the report which has much to celebrate. We feel that we are just a short way into our journey as a school with a new leadership team and new members of staff and so we will strive as always to develop, improve and display our motto of 'Excellence and Enjoyment'. The inspector was clear that we had made significant steps of improvement as a school since our last inspection.

The inspector was delighted by the children she met and spoke to. She commented on how the children and staff were so friendly, welcoming and open throughout her visit – something we know them to always be. She was particularly impressed with how well the children talked not just about the subjects that they were studying but also about how knowledgeably and respectfully they spoke about a range of social issues. As always we are very proud of the children at Aintree Davenhill.

A huge thank you to all our staff team who work on a daily basis to ensure the best outcomes for our children. We felt that we didn't need to alter our approach in any way for the Ofsted inspection as we work at all times to ensure that we meet all of our children's needs both academically, and socially and emotionally.

Thank you for your support. Although we haven't been able to speak about the inspection until the report was published, we really appreciated all the messages of good wishes and encouragement during the actual inspection! Thank you also to the parents who took the time to complete the Ofsted Parent View Survey. We would appreciate your continued support as the home-school partnership is crucial in ensuring 'Excellence and Enjoyment' for our children.

Yours sincerely,

E. V Clay
